Bethel seeks $418,000 in federal funds for pathways

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The Town of Bethel has applied for $418,000 in federal funding to construct a system of sidewalks, bike paths and landscaping linking the current village with the Bethel Station project and points beyond.

The project, to be known as "Bethel Pathway," would also include the construction of a new cantilevered bikeway/walkway next to the existing Route 2 bridge over the Androscoggin River.

Cost of the pathway project is estimated at nearly a million dollars ($958,000), but $540,000 of that amount is a preliminary valuation for 12 acres of riverfront land that will be used for some of the paths. (The developers value the land in the project at $45,000 per acre.)

The Bethel Station developers have offered to donate that land to a land trust. The $540,000 valuation would more than cover the matching contribution (20%) required to make the town eligible for the $418,000 in federal money.

The federal funding is being administered through the Maine Department of Transportation's Transportation Enhancement Program, as a part of the 1991 federal Intermodal Transportation Act. That act was intended to underwrite the reconstruction of the country's infrastructure, while at the same time encouraging the increased use of alternative means of transportation.

The money provided through the program is not in the form of grants -- it is from the state's normal federal aid highway funding.

Concrete connections

According to the Bethel Pathway application, the pathway project has two main goals: 1) to integrate Bethel Station with the existing village, so that village store owners share the retail growth that is expected to follow on the heels of Bethel Station, and 2) to strengthen Bethel's position as an outfitting and departure point for mountain biking and hiking excursions throughout the Western Mountains.

To achieve those goals the following improvements would be undertaken.

Village more accessible

As they pass Davis Park, cars arriving on Route 26 from the south would be presented with "a strong visual statement" inviting them to continue straight into the present village.

The elements of that statement would include five-foot wide sidewalks and granite curbs, which would connect with those already in place along Main Street.

In addition, new landscaping and lighting would run from Davis Park up Main Street into the village.

Similar sidewalks, curbing and landscaping would be constructed along Railroad and Mechanic streets, to encourage train riders to come into the village. A covered walkway over the train tracks would make those streets safely accessible to pedestrian traffic. (That walkway is already planned as part of the Bethel Station project and is not dependent on the funding of Bethel Pathway.)

River path's way cleared

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Whatever the fate of the Bethel Pathway application, some form of pathway along the river will be part of Bethel Station.

But that path, like the project's 100-room hotel, will probably not be built until next summer, due to delays in getting the construction phase up and running.

And if the Bethel Pathway application is approved, the river-side pathway may be delayed until 1996, but the end product will be wider and better constructed than initially envisioned -- when the developers promised a path as part of the land swap option offered to Bethel voters.

Whatever the timetable, the necessary groundwork is already being laid for the path, according to developer Heinie Merrill. The developers have options on all the necessary parcels of land, he said, and the various state and federal regulatory agencies involved have already given the concept preliminary approval. Only the final details of the plan remain to be worked out, Merrill said.

The path would be used by walkers and cyclists during warm weather, cross-country skiers and snowmobilers during the winter. It will run from Davis Park on Route 26 to somewhere near the Red Top on Route 2. Just how closely it will follow the river is yet to be determined. A 100-foot setback requirement for the river's buffer zone may keep the it at least that far from the water, he said, or regulators may decide that the path qualifies for an exemption that will allow it to be routed closer to the river's edge.

THE KIDS OF SUMMER

The Bethel T-ball Team was one of many squads of local youngsters active on the diamond this season.

Low income homebuilder/owners sought

By WENDY HANSCOM

Sick of paying rent? Does the American dream of a white picket fence and a green lawn surrounding a home of your own seem out of reach? It may not be so.

Low income families willing to band together and use a lot of elbow grease may be able to build themselves new, affordable homes with the help of Community Concepts Inc. of South Paris.

Currently, Community Concepts is looking for people in the Bethel area, and beyond, who are willing to trade a great deal of "sweat equity" for new two- or three-bedroom homes.

First Bethel area opportunity for sweat-equity ownership

So far, Community Concepts has helped 13 low- or very-low income families in Oxford County build themselves new homes; and groundbreaking for six more homes in the greater-Rumford area has already begun.

Meetings are scheduled in South Paris, Bethel and Auburn next week to explain the program.

A brief look at how it works

For the inexperienced, building your own home can be a daunting task. But Community Concepts will provide all the technical assistance needed in its Homeownership Program.

The program helps Oxford and Androscoggin county residents get into a Farmers Home Administration self-help program. It is open to

1992 Gilead murder

Chapman appeal denied

By WENDY HANSCOM

David Chapman's appeal of his conviction for the Oct. 9, 1992 murder of Richard Hutchins, 28, of Gilead was denied last week.

The Maine Supreme Judicial Court in Portland turned down the appeal, according to Fernand LaRochelle, state assistant attorney general.

This will probably be the end of any further appeals in the case by Chapman, LaRochelle said. The Portland court is the highest in the state.

In June 1993, Chapman, 39, of Gilead, was convicted of Hutchins' murder by an Oxford County Superior Court jury.

Hutchins died of a 12-gauge shotgun wound to the chest. His body was found on a right-of-way used as a path between the home Chapman shared with his girlfriend and

Sunday River culverts fail, muddying nearby streams

By WENDY HANSCOM

Sudden, heavy rainfall last week washed out culverts on a Sunday River Ski Resort work road, spilling dirt into Merrill Brook and silting the Sunday River.

The work road was in the Merrill Brook area, where crews are cutting new ski trails in Jordan Bowl.

A small storm cell passed over the ski resort last Monday, dropping between 2 and 3.5 inches of rain in less than 45 minutes, according to ski area spokesman Skip King.

"We got 2 inches on this side of the mountain (Barker Mountain) and on the other side (Jordan Mountain) it was almost 4 inches," King said. "A couple of culverts under the work road washed out. It's a temporary road and they were temporary culverts. The state requires that we put in temporary culverts that will withstand a 10-year storm. We built the road to meet state performance standards. But the culverts were unable to withstand the sheer volume of the storm and we had some stream siltation." The storm passed through around 4 p.m., he said, and by 8 p.m. work crews had shored up the area.

'The culverts were unable to withstand the sheer volume of the storm.'

SKIP KING
Sunday River spokesman

"We have replaced all the temporary culverts (on the work road) with ones that can handle a 25-year event," King said. "We feel bad about this. We feel we did everything right. On a construction site, there's nothing more important to Les (Otten, resort owner) and Burt (Mills, mountain manager) than water quality. But you can't predict a storm of this magnitude. We've taken every step possible to prevent this from happening again."

Merrill Brook empties into the Sunday River and enough soil went into the brook to cloud the Sunday River. Parts of the river were still cloudy late last week, according to Sunday River Valley residents.

"We have had rain showers every day after the culverts were repaired," King said, "and we have not had any additional problems. The water runoff from the site is clear. There has been some residual silt moving down the brook. The brook has a low water level this time of year, and it hasn't had a chance to flush it all out yet. Since Monday, however, there has been no added silt going into the brook."

The state Department of Environmental Protection was notified of the washout, King said, and approved the resort's plan to fix the work road.

Bethel selectmen worry over tire dump exposure

Concerned over Bethel's possible financial exposure in the event of a fire at Peter and Susan Gordon's tire dump in nearby Greenwood, the Bethel Selectman have instructed Town Manager Madeleine Henley to send the following letter to their counterparts in Greenwood.

"Dear Board of Selectmen:
The Bethel Board of Selectmen asked me to advise you of their growing concern for the liability and responsibility the Town of Bethel may have inadvertently assumed for the Gordon property in Greenwood. As you know, Bethel acts as "first responder" to "The Irish Neighborhood" wherein the Gordon tire dump exists. The Bethel Selectmen are concerned that our position as first responder may commit more in the way of personnel and other resources than the Bethel Fire Department can reasonably afford.

"Please be advised that if and when the tire pile ignites, Bethel will act under the guidelines of the mutual aid arrangement. We are happy to provide assistance in emergency situations. However, we are unable and unwilling to commit to a long-term remedial action. I am sure you understand that we cannot tie up our limited vehicles and volunteers monitoring a situation for what could be days or weeks on end.

"I would further state the opinion of the Bethel Board of Selectmen that it seems most unfair that the Town of Greenwood should have to

BETHEL REC BOARD SAYS THANKS

To the Editor:

The Bethel Board of Recreation would like to take this opportunity to publicly thank the many folks who have made this such a fun and exciting baseball/softball season. Many local businesses have sponsored teams that our youngsters play on. These sponsors include the IGA, the Bethel Savings Bank, Key Bank, Preb's Pharmacy, Sunday River, Jack Cross Excavating, R.A. Douglass, D & E Sanitation, and Rupert Grover, Bill Myers and Groan & McGurn.

We also would like to acknowledge the men and women who donated many hours of their time to coach these teams. John Caron, Steve Gavett, Barb Dunham, Chris Blake, Suzanne Howe and Terri White all worked with the softball programs. Dick Dohrmann, Bernice Caddigan and Marilyn Swan headed up the T-ball teams. Chris Olson, Jeff Fleet, and Shannon Sumner led the Rookie League teams; Jim Osgood, Don Aylward, Dave Murphy and Chris Olson oversaw the Minor League teams; Neil Donovan and Gary Wight coached the Major League team; and Bill Myers coached the Babe Ruth League.

Many others also helped out during the season. Umpires, base coaches, and storekeepers are but a few of the many jobs that were done. Thanks.

The Bethel Recreation Board is delighted that so many children and their families participated in these programs. We look forward to seeing you again next season.

From the Bethel Police log:

Police stake out kitchen; rowdy arrested at the Suds

Wednesday, after a report of several breakins at the NTL cafeteria police staked out the building. After the officer was inside for only a few moments, a man entered the building. He was questioned and the case was turned over to the Oxford County District Attorney's Office.

Thursday, a Sudbury Inn employee reported a "highly intoxicated" man attempting to drive. When police arrived, three men told police the subject had vandalized their vehicles. As police led the subject away for questioning, the report states that he tried to assault another man. He was temporarily restrained but pushed the police officer and went after the man again. Dennis Gross, 35, of Hanover was restrained again, charged with criminal mischief and assault, and arrested.

In other police news last week, police received two complaints regarding Bethel Park Apartments. On July 26, police responded to a report of a loud party. The party goers were warned to keep the noise down or face possible arrest. On July 31, damage to the tires of three bikes parked at the complex's bike rack was reported. Damage was estimated at $100.

On July 26, a Main Street business employee reported seeing a group of juveniles throwing rocks at cars. Police interviewed a group of juveniles, who denied throwing rocks. The group was asked to disperse.

On July 31, at 3 p.m., a Route 5 resident reported seeing a man looking in her bathroom window. Police found footprints under the window and across the lawn. No suspicious person was found in the area.

Also on July 31, a Bethel garage owner reported that three of the four tires on his wrecker had been punctured. Police estimated the damage at about $360.

low-income families, single parents, retirees, couples and single people.

Qualified participants, who have an acceptable credit history, are pre-approved for the program by FmHA. Thirty-three to 38-year mortgages are available with interest rates as low as 1 percent.

A group of eligible families forms an association and is trained to work together to build their own homes.

They build about 65 percent of the houses. The foundations are put in by outside labor, and licensed contractors do the plumbing and electrical work. But the rest is up to the association.

The homes are built simultaneously, and no one moves in until all the homes are finished.

The group decides how many hours each week each family must provide. The Rumford group, which hopes to start construction next month, voted to require 25 hours each week. That time can be put in by the adult family members -- no one under 16 is allowed on the construction sites -- or other volunteers.

Two groups, ASPIRE and Women Unlimited, will also help the Rumford area group put up their houses.

FmHA allows the families to choose their lots. Community Concepts has all the necessary power tools, nail guns, hard hats and more, for construction. Chainsaws and chippers are also available for clearing lots.

Homebuilders can choose from suggested modest plans for ranch-style homes. The plans are designed to be energy efficient and well constructed, with full basements and 2-x-6 framing. FmHA officials inspect the completed homes.

So far, it has cost about $55,000 to $60,000 to build the homes, which are usually appraised at around $80,000 or more, according to Ginger Kelly of Community Concepts.

The entire process, from application to completed home, takes from 12 to 18 months. The actual construction phase can take from eight to 12 months.

"We like to work with people on an individual basis," Kelly said. "People who want to own their own homes should call us."

The terms "very low, and low income" sometimes discourage people from looking into the program, she said, but income guidelines are adjustable for the size of the family and other reasons.

No experience, no problem

"I'm learning," said Mary Gould of Mexico, "I was nervous at the beginning because I've never used a skill saw or a clip saw -- or anything like that." Gould, her two small children and her companion hope to move out of in-town Mexico and onto Popple Hill, which is still in Mexico, but much more rural.

Gould is planning to put 15 hours a week into home building, while her companion, Mark Hutchinson, will try for 10 hours a week, she said.

Gould said it would have been iffy whether or not her family could have secured a traditional bank loan for construction.

"We might have been able to do it, but we didn't really have the experience to do it on our own," Gould said. "It's a lot easier this way."

Single mother Linda Jackson of Mexico lives in a rental on Holman Ave. with three children. She's planning to move to Rumford Point.

"I'm looking forward to getting away from the mill and to living a little bit more in the country," Jackson said. "Sometimes it's true that if you want something done, you have to do it yourself. I have a lot of people who are going to volunteer. I may say I'm sorry when we get in the middle of it, but I'm going for it. It's a lot of hard work, but you get a new house when it's over."

Jackson said until she learned about this program, she had put her plans to own her own home on hold.

"I was surprised I was accepted by FmHA," she said. "Earlier in the year I got a loan for a new van. I had bad credit in my previous marriage and this was the first step toward building good credit back. I expected the worst."

Jackson's group will try to get the six homes framed up by winter, so they can move on to inside work.

"There's been delays along the way," she said. "We were hoping to start construction in August, but now it looks like September. We need to get all the houses ready for winter so we can work inside, which will take a lot of work. But as a group we decided to go for it."

Meeting dates

Community Concepts also has a program for those who don't think they can build their own homes.

Qualified applications may be able to purchase a home the government has foreclosed on.

Meetings on the Homeownership Program are scheduled for Tuesday, Aug. 9, at 7 p.m. in the lecture hall at Telstar High School and Tuesday, Aug. 9, at 1 p.m., and Thursday, Aug. 11 at 7 p.m. at the Community Concepts' Market Square office in South Paris.

Another meeting is also scheduled for Monday, Aug. 8 at 1 p.m. at Community Concepts' 2 Court Street office in Auburn.

More information on the program and income guidelines is also available at Community Concepts' South Paris office at 743-7716.

the trailer Hutchins shared with Chapman's sister Susan.

A state police detective testified at Chapman's trial that two spent shells at the scene were fired from the 12-gauge shotgun police recovered three days after the shooting, in a boggy area about 265-feet from Chapman's trailer.

Chapman was sentenced by justice Paul A. Frischie to 45 years in prison.

Other litigation pending

During Chapman's trial, the defense attorney blamed Scott Pike, 22, of Bethel for the shooting.

At the trial, Pike denied killing Hutchins. In November, Pike filed a complaint for defamation in Oxford County Superior Court against Raymond Chapman of Bethel, David Chapman's father.

Pike's complaint claims that Raymond Chapman made "slandorous, defamatory and false statement of facts" about Pike "in that he accused Scott Pike of murdering Richard Hutchins and robbing him of approximately $2,700" and that Raymond Chapman "wrote, spoke, or otherwise published such statements knowingly, recklessly or negligently."

Pike's complaint states that he "suffered damages including, but not limited to, mental suffering; humiliation, embarrassment, harm to reputation; and loss of social standing."

Pike is seeking punitive compensation for the "damages" listed in the complaint.

Pike's attorney, Thomas S. Carey of Rumford, said Pike's suit is still active. Depositions are being conducted, Carey said, and he expects a trial in the spring.

THIS WEEK AT THE

Moses Mason House

All members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the next monthly meeting will be held on Thursday, Aug. 4, in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House, 7:30 p.m.

The meeting will feature a presentation by Genetta McLean, director of the Bates College Museum of Art, on "D.D. Coombs: Lewiston's Painter Laureate." Ms. McLean's slide lecture is open to anyone interested.

Plans for the 15th annual Sudbury Canada Days, summer heritage festival of the Bethel Historical Society, are now finalized for Aug. 12-14. The theme for the children's parade, beginning at 1 p.m. on Saturday, is "Old-Time Circus Characters" (ringmaster, trapeze artists, clowns, etc.). Those children 12 and under are urged to assemble in front of the Dr. Moses Mason House by 12:45 p.m.

Participants are needed for the children's games, the badminton, horseshoe, and croquet tournaments. Anyone wishing to participate in the Old Time Variety Show, Saturday, Aug. 13, evening should call the society office at 824-2908.

The encampment of the Fourth Maine Volunteer Infantry Regiment will be on the grounds of the Dr. Moses House, beginning Friday afternoon and continuing into Sunday.

Ousted G'wood assessor protests reval.

By ALISON ALOISIO

and WENDY HANSKOM

Former Greenwood Tax Assessor Herbert Dunham told selectmen last week he was unhappy with the results of the town's recent revaluation.

Dunham lost his job in 1992, when voters at a special Town Meeting approved the selectmen's recommendation that he be removed for refusing to turn over assessing information to the selectmen.

John O'Donnell Associates of Auburn was hired last year to revalue the town.

Selectmen proposed the change in assessing methods, they say, because Dunham refused to turn over assessing information requested by the selectmen.

Dunham told selectmen last week he had spoken to several people who were dissatisfied with O'Donnell's assessments.

The only specific example he cited was that a person (unnamed) who owns a 50-acre woodlot was being assessed as much in taxes as a 200-acre woodlot owner.

"A lot of people will get hurt who ought not to get hurt," Dunham told selectman Marie Bartlett.

Dunham said he held Bartlett personally responsible for anyone unhappy with O'Donnell's assessment.

Bartlett replied that the decision to hire O'Donnell was the unanimous vote of the board. She also reprimanded him for the tone of his comments.

Bartlett said after the meeting that Dunham could cite no specific examples of people unhappy with their assessments. (Repeated attempts to contact Dunham for comment were unsuccessful.)

Informal hearings on the assessments were held earlier this month, she said, but not as many people as expected turned out.

"We were disappointed with the amount of people who showed up," Bartlett said. "People were in to say they wanted to look over their card and voice any concerns and to ask for any adjustment they felt warranted. The doors are not closed to people now. If people still have concerns with the valuation they can come in and look at their cards and we'll help them to make it fair for everyone -- that any mistakes made are corrected."

"We've had people on both sides who said this isn't right and that's adjustable," she said, "and others who called and said it was more than fair and it came in close to what the house was worth. We're hearing both sides. If the informal hearings were any indication I don't think there's going to be all that many complaints. We're going a step at a time and will look at the overall picture and the selectmen will review the decisions and see if we're comfortable with everything brought to us. We're not going to close the door on these people. We're here to help them, not hurt them."

O'Donnell has told selectmen that he's willing to come back to homes that did not get an interior visit, she said.

Taxpayers can still appeal their valuation, Bartlett said.

"It's not a complicated procedure," she said. "It's not a full blown appeals board hearing. The assessors will review the appeal with O'Donnell, and if it warrants adjustment, naturally we're going to do it."

Selectmen planned further review of O'Donnell's assessment at last night's meeting.

complaints. We're going to look at a time and will look at the full picture and the selectmen will review the decisions and see if they are comfortable with everything that is going on. We're not going to knock on the door on these people. We're here to help them, not hurt them.

Donnell has told selectmen that he is willing to come back to homes but did not get an interior visit, she said.

Donnell said that he can still appeal their decision, but it's not a complicated process. She said, "It's not a full appeal board hearing. The selectmen will review the appeal of O'Donnell, and if it warrants a hearing, naturally we're going to have it."

Selectmen planned further review of O'Donnell's assessment at last week's meeting.

Briefly

Adviser says regional center needed

BETHEL--The executive director of the Lewiston-Auburn Economic Growth Council told local business people that the Bethel area needs a regional resource center and economic diversification. At a workshop last week sponsored by the Evans Notch Economic Project, Stephen Heavener said programs similar to those the Lewiston-Auburn Growth Council have developed could help promote more business in the Bethel area. The council grants loans, finds business space and gives out information on resources available to businesses. Heavener also said Bethel needs to diversify its employment opportunities. Using International Paper in Jay as an example, he said, "With everyone working for the same company, if something goes wrong, you end up with a thousand people on the street." The Evans Notch Economic Project Advisory Council will meet this week to further discuss and wrap up the project. Bethel selectman Bob Chadbourne said that a needs assessment should be done before further discussion of hiring someone to run a comprehensive resource program.

FmHA to blacklist Gleichman?

PORTLAND--Pamela Gleichman of Portland, developer of Bethel Park Apartments, has been suspended from doing business with the Farmers Home Administration and may be "debarred" by the federal agency. Gleichman has developed more than 50 low-rent housing projects with FmHA. But FmHA officials said they are "taking immediate action" to prevent her from getting any more construction money from the agency. Gleichman is one of the largest FmHA developers in the country. She has developed low-housing projects in Maine, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Mississippi. She's been a developer in Maine since the early 1980s. FmHA officials said suspension was prompted by "numerous and long-term violations going back as far as August 1988." The FmHA has not set a date for debarment proceedings. Once a meeting between Gleichman and FmHA officials is held, an FmHA administrator will rule within 45 days on whether or not to debar her.

Woodstock voters OK fire pond

WOODSTOCK--Voters at a special Town Meeting last week agreed to buy an acre of land behind the town garage for a fire pond. The land is owned by Samuel and Irene Redman. Fire Chief William Seames said the pond is needed in the winter when fire trucks can't be filled from frozen dry hydrants. Money for equipment for the project will come from the fire department's account, Seames said. Labor will be provided by fire department members and other volunteers, he said. The pond will be about 100 feet long and 50 to 75 feet wide. The depth will be determined by the equipment's ability to reach the area, Seames said. At the meeting, townspeople also approved the purchase of a $2,500 L-Tec welding/cutting system. The new equipment is easier to use than what the town has now, according to Road Foreman Percy Monk, and should help get any broken equipment on the road again sooner.

Environmentalists delay Vt. logging

RUTLAND, VT.--Logging in Green Mountain National Forest in southern Vermont has been delayed by environmentalists opposed to the U.S. Forest Service handing out logging contracts in the Lamb Brook area. An informal agreement between environmental groups and the Forest Service has the service agreeing to delay the contracts until next spring. A coalition of environmental groups, in return, agreed for now not to seek a court injunction to block the work. Environmental groups, including the National Audubon Society, Green Mountain Forest Watch, the Conservation Law Foundation and others, filed a suit earlier this summer seeking to stop the construction of logging roads and timber harvesting in the Lamb Brook area. The environmental groups claim the area is a critical habitat for black bears and migrating song birds. It is also a popular recreational area. The Forest Service wants to cut 3.2 million board feet in the area.

Senior citizens coming on line

ANAHEIM, CALIF.--Experts of the Electronic Industries Association were surprised to find out that senior citizens may be leading the pack in home computer purchase. Seniors, defined as people 50 and above, were recently polled by the association on their computer use. The poll found that 70 percent of the women and 78 percent of the men owned a personal computer -- compared to 37 percent of Americans as a whole. Of the seniors polled 37 percent said they use modems compared with about 20 percent of the general public.

Senior games looking for competitors

PORTLAND--The Maine Senior Games is looking for men and women who would like to play on softball or basketball teams. Interest, and not past performance, is the key, according to organizers. For more information call Anita L. Chandler at Maine Senior Games at 775-6503.

Andover man hurt in Rumford crash

RUMFORD--Stephen Simmons, 43, of East Andover, and a Mexico man were hurt in a head-on collision last week on the East Andover Road. Eric Arsenault, 17, of Mexico was driving a 1983 Ford Escort station wagon north on the road, according to Rumford Police, when his car drifted into the southbound lane and directly into the path of Simmons' 1986 Chevrolet pickup. Arsenault told police he took his eyes off the road to look at cars parked at a local dealership. Simmons' vehicle was struck on the driver's side. Rumford firefighters used the mechanical jaws of life to get to Arsenault, who suffered a broken leg and other injuries. Simmons suffered minor injuries and was treated and released. Both vehicles were totaled.

More Andover water delays

ANDOVER--The Andover Water District is waiting for a land easement before it can secure a Farmers Home Administration Grant of $532,000 to set up the new artesian well water system. "I want the people in Andover to know," said Hal Frazier, system director, "that the holdup is we can't get the FmHA loan from the bank until we get the land to put the system on. The owner of the land, Susan Ricker, has been dragging her feet for a year now. We sent her a check on the seventh of last month to defray legal expenses, and we haven't heard anything. She won't give us her lawyer's telephone number. Until Ricker signs the papers for the easements, we can't do a darn thing."

DEP money for small businesses

AUGUSTA--The Department of Environmental Protection will use grant money from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to set up a revolving loan fund for small Maine businesses. The goal of the project is to raise $1 million in capital. Small businesses could use the loans to invest in energy audits, purchase energy-efficient equipment, adopt process changes, or other pollution prevention purposes. Each loan will be a maximum of $200,000, with rates at or below market interest rates. The $60,000 federal grant will be used to fund one position to coordinate loan applications, pollution prevention audits and to track the results of the project.

Historic hotel coming down?

WHITEFIELD, N.H.--The Mountain View House, a 180-room hotel with several grand ballrooms and assorted dining rooms may be razed to make way for a 250-family townhouse complex with an exclusive boys' school. Developers estimate the project would cost between $30 and $35 million to construct. The developers of the project are unnamed. The Whitefield Planning Board chairman said he has been in contact with a negotiator for the investors. The new resort would cater to wealthy clients from Boston and New York. The boys' school would be modeled after private European boys' schools, the chairman said. The Mountain View property was founded in the last century by the Dodge family and had been open summers for guests. The property was last open as a summer resort in 1986. Its furnishings were sold at auction in 1989, and the property was sold in 1990 but never restored.

Pathways

would be the riverside bikepath (see box). The funding application calls for the path to be half paved, half surfaced with stone dust.

The path would run along the 12-acre "scenic corridor" donated by the developers and would connect on the north to a new bikepath-walkway bridge attached to the existing Route 2 bridge. In the winter the new bridge would be available for the use of snowmobilers.

From there, the application notes, bicyclists would be able to continue north along routes 2/26 (which are currently being widened).

The developers also hope to rent retail space to a "major outdoor equipment outfitter," making Bethel Station even more attractive as a jumping-off site for various forms of outdoor excursions.

A detailed map showing the proposed pathway system is on view in the Bethel Town Office.

Decision soon, but no work till '96

The funds Bethel is seeking are part of the federal government's 1996-97 biennial budget, and would not be available until October 1995.

Not a decision on the application could come as early as October of this year, according to Albert Belz of the MDOT Bureau of Planning.

There are approximately $5 million in federal enhancement funds to be distributed for the two-year period, Belz said.

Few questions at MDOT hearing

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Will Bethel Station be the beginning of traffic lights and the end of logging in Bethel Village?

These seemed to be the two most pressing questions at last week's Maine Department of Transportation public hearing on the relocation of Cross Street and the possible construction of a publicly owned train station in the $25 million development.

The answer to both questions was a firm "maybe."

Kathy Hooke, an outspoken opponent of the Bethel Station project, raised the issue of traffic lights.

If the project goes through, much of the traffic currently using Cross Street is expected to shift to a new road, to be named "Parkway Street." The construction of Parkway Street will be funded largely from funds already earmarked by MDOT for reconstruction of Cross Street.

Hooke asked if the anticipated increased traffic would lead to traffic lights being installed on either or both ends of Parkway Street. She also asked whose call it would be whether or not such lights were needed.

MDOT traffic engineer Jack Murphy said actual traffic flow along the new street would be monitored and if lights were warranted they would be installed.

"However, because they are expensive to run, they will not be installed if the traffic flow shows they aren't necessary," he said.

MDOT deputy commissioner Alden Small added that the final decision on the lights would be the state's, but input would be sought first from town officials.

In a related question, Jack Greig wanted to know who was going to design the road.

Small replied that Bethel and the developers are designing the road; MDOT will review the plans and the work as the road's put in.

MDOT will not bid the job, Small said, but will have an engineer assigned to it who will be responsible for seeing it's up to state standards.

The state frequently operates in this fashion, he added. "My expectation will be that the project will happen faster being developed in the manner it is because of the pressure that Bethel Station has, wanting it complete and operational."

Logs and skiers don't mix

Bethel selectman (and mill owner) Bob Chadbourne asked if the arrival of passengers at the sta-

Funds could go up in smoke

MDOT planning staff expressed confidence that the enhancement funds will be available next year, but they acknowledged that the current petition drive against the state's new emissions testing program could threaten that funding.

Maine has already lost $800,000 in federal funds this year -- and stands to lose twice that amount next year -- because of its failure to adopt mandatory automobile seat-belt and motorcycle helmet laws.

If the state also cancels its emissions testing program, it could stand to lose far more money, much of it from enhancement funds, according to Paul Minor of the MDOT Bureau of Planning.

Dump exposure

Town of Greenwood should have to shoulder this liability. Please remember that if Greenwood needs Bethel's help in your effort to convince the Maine Department of Environmental Protection to accept the responsibility for their action, or more accurately, their lack of action, please do not hesitate to call upon us. (Signed) Madeleine E. Henley.

Meeting Thursday

Greenwood selectmen will meet Thursday, Aug. 4 at 7 p.m. in the Town Office to discuss the tire dump issue.

Henley said she planned to attend the meeting. Other state and local officials have also been invited.

Station application complete

By WENDY HANSCOM

The Bethel Planning Board ruled last week that the Bethel Station project application is complete.

The board found the application conditionally complete at its June 1 meeting. But at that time the board listed 10 areas where it wanted more information.

Board members agreed last week that their two major concerns, regarding fire protection and an adequate water supply, were now sufficiently well documented.

At the board's Aug. 3 meeting (tonight), members will discuss how individual buildings in the project will be reviewed.

The public hearing on the project will reconvene on Aug. 10. Before that hearing, the board will meet at 6 p.m. to consider an application for a drive-through window at the Bottle & Bag in Mayville.

After the Bottle & Bag hearing, the board may continue its discussion of the Bethel Station application.

Four Rebels MVC All-stars

Four Telstar High School varsity baseball players were named to the Mountain Valley Conference honorary all-star teams.

Pitcher Tim Remington and outfielder Sean Gilson were named to the first team.

Remington, a junior, went 4-1 this past season for the Rebels. In 34 innings, he struck out 51 and gave up only six walks. He posted a 1.02 earned run average, and when not pitching played the outfield.

Gilson, who graduated in June, led the team with 28 hits and 23 runs with a .444 batting average. He had a .533 on-base percentage, a .603 slugging percentage and also racked up 18 stolen bases.

Chris Howe and Adam Newell were named to the MVC all-star second team.

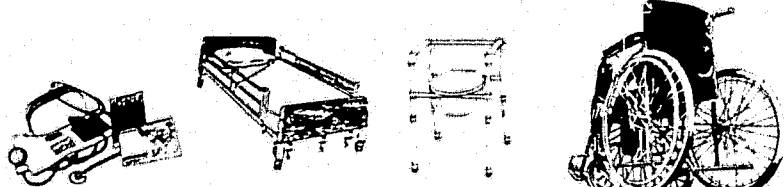

Howe, who also graduated in June, led the rebels in RBIs with 15 and posted a .500 on-base percentage.

Sophomore Newell shared the RBI lead with Howe. This was a comeback year for Newell. In 1993 he broke his right arm skiing. The designated hitter had a .460 on-base percentage.

Moore's K&B has a beautiful satin finish which is both durable and washable. It is ideal for use over glossy surfaces, and resists the formation of mildew.

Moore's K&B is truly a designer-inspired product developed to meet the particular demands of the two busiest rooms in the house. It is available in white and over six-hundred light, popular custom colors.

Surface Preparation.

Surfaces to be painted must be clean and free of grease, wax, scaling paint, and mildew. If mildew is present on the walls, remove it using a commercial mildew wash following the manufacturers instructions and cautions on the package. New plaster and masonry must be cured prior to painting. Moore's K&B is self priming on surfaces such as sheetrock, plaster, masonry, and other previously painted surfaces. Unpainted wood, however, should first be primed with Moore's Latex Enamel Underbody (345) or Moore's Alkyd Enamel Underbody (217), and finished with one or two coats of Moore's K&B. Unpainted metal should first be primed with a Moore's rust-inhibitive primer, and finished with one or two coats of Moore's K&B.

Andover

By KAREN MCKAY

Andover streets will be filled with excitement this weekend with the Olde Home Days activities. The events begin Friday with the Ellis River Riders' dinner at the town hall at 6, a performance by the Ed Morris Hypnotic Show will follow the meal of logging camp cooking. Tickets are available in advance only at the Four Seasons Cafe. The band "No Strings Attached" will have a free concert on the common Friday night from 8-10. The Funtime Festival Carnival will be situated behind the school and will be in operation on Friday night and Saturday. The doll carriage and bike parade at Andover Auto will travel down Main Street at 10. Any floats entering the parade should be at the dump road by 9:30 a.m. to qualify for judging. The First Congregational Church will open their doors for their sales at 9 a.m., a luncheon will be served at noon, several drawings will be held—a hand carved bird donated by Art Schroeder will be raffled, as well as a basketful of food items. Many events will occur throughout the day. The firemen are sponsoring a chicken barbecue and a dance at the fire station Saturday night. The Burley Brothers will play at the 9 p.m. byob happening.

The library will be open from 1-4:30 with a display of wedding gowns (call the library if you are interested in showing yours). A book sale will be held and the tickets for the Maybasket quilt raffle will be available. Stationery will be on sale as well as the books "Glimpses of Olde Andover" and "Andover, The First 175 Years" which only 11 volumes remain for sale. The Historical Society will be open and is hosting their 43rd annual flower show from noon to 4 p.m. The art show will be held in the town hall from 10:30-2, raffle tickets for the painting of iris will be available. The antique and classic auto show will be held from noon to 2 at Akers Ski Fields. Many varied activities are scheduled all day long. There have been many nice prizes donated by local merchants for the button raffle. The numbered buttons are available now at local stores. The first drawing will be held at 12:30, any unclaimed prizes will be redrawn at 2:30 p.m. A partial listing of donations follows: Cookie jar donated by Joyce Frazier; 12 pounds of ham donated by Naples Packing; $25 donated by Matron Service Co.; 57 Chevy video tape rewriter donated by a friend; dried arrangement donated by Everlasting Acres; cross country skis donated by Akers Ski; meals for four donated by Addie's Place; two breakfast donated by Red Top Truck Stop; two $25 prizes donated by Smith Enterprises; two full day lift tickets donated by Mt. Abram Ski Area; $10 gift certificate donated by Shop N' Save; $20 gift certificate donated by Brooks Brothers; $50 gift certificate donated by Western Maine Supply; $25 donated by the Bakery; wooden novelty donated by Knotty Toys; gift certificate donated by the Den Restaurant; seven yards of gravel donated by Emerson Excavation; two t-shirts donated by Upton Trading Post; two 16 inch pizzas donated by Mill's Market; two full day lift tickets donated by Sunday River Ski Area; gloves, hat and fanny pack donated by Andover Arms B&B; chair donated by Andover Wood Products; welcome plaque donated by Wardwell's; sweatshirt donated by Curiosity Shop; dinner for two donated by All Season's Cafe; two 16 inch pizzas donated by Dave's Store; $25 prize donated by Marston's Trucking; $10 gift certificate donated by Visible Changes; load of gravel donated by Richard Pelletier; TV stand donated by Stanley's Furniture; charcoal grill donated by Puiia's; AM/FM radio donated by Dyers; handmade basket donated by Richardson's General Store. Items are being donated by generous business owners daily. A lot will be happening—firemen will muster, arms will wrestle, and cow ships will flip—only in Andover. Sunday's events include the Ellis River Riders horse show at their arena beginning at 9 a.m. Entertainment on the common will begin at 1 with the Scoggin Cloggers, to be followed by Blue Grass music and a Barbershop Quartet, bring a chair and enjoy.

Jean and Lester White, David White and Norma Farrington are visiting in Prince Edward Island.

Keep a lookout during the Olde Home Days parade—rumor has it that Lewiston's Boxing Champ Joey Gamache will be the Grand Marshall.

Last week's column should have said that it was Vada Glover, who spent July 21 with Ruth Cummings. July visitors of the Norman Docks included James J. Dock and Paul Pitkin of Beaverton, Ore.; Gretchen Dock, Ann Robbins, Yola and Emma Cobert of Newton, Mass.; Roger, Susanne and Timothy Dock, Glastonbury, Conn.; James N. Dock and Heidi Moore, Farmington; and Drs. Stephen Dock and Carolyn Wilson, Greenville, N.C.

Phyllis Coolidge Barnhill passed away on July 24 in Florida. A Memorial Service will be held at the East Bethel Church on Aug. 7 at 2 p.m. The Rev. Rust will conduct the service.

Neil Olson will be hosting his Trappers' Weekend on Aug. 19 to 21.

Serena Enman of Canton and the Rev. and Mrs. Norman Rust visited Peggy Coolidge on July 27.

Ken Scribner is doing very well and the ribs are healing. Charlene Haines came home from CMMC on July 26.

Dana and Millie Jackson went out to Eagle Island in Casco Bay on July 23. They had to wear a jacket to stay warm, but after coming back to the mainland they had to remove them.

A birthday party for Sonny Hastings was held at his home with friends and family attending. There were 60 candles on the cake.

Mrs. Patty Hewitt of Cape Elizabeth and Mrs. Debby Irish of Portland visited at the Bartlett Homestead on July 27.

Guests at the Bartlett Homestead on July 22 and 23 were Bernard Bartlett and wife Betty of Fresno, Calif., Shirley Bartlett Eby of Stockton, Calif., Shirley's daughter Joy of Napa, Calif., Buck and Shirley Secord Powell of Rockland.

Many of these folks for many years lived in East Bethel, so they enjoyed noting the changes both here and all around Bethel. They had previously visited many relatives in Massachusetts.

They were used to hot weather but not the humid weather that we all endured while they were here.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith were guests of Mr. Rex Martin and his mother on July 23. They enjoyed lunch at the Village Inn in Auburn.

On July 24, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith visited Freda Edmonds in South Paris.

The Woodstock-Greenwood Senior Citizens will meet on Thursday, Aug. 4, at the Grange Hall for a potluck dinner and silent auction. Charlotte Cole will present a musical program. Please bring a dish to pass and an article for the silent auction, plus your own place setting.

Tuesday is Bryant Pond Hour on channel IV TV at 4 p.m.

There was a very good turnout at the five day clubs last week; 35 children were enrolled. It was held at the Bryant Pond Baptist Church.

The Historical Society makes an important contribution to the area. The historical museum is interesting to visit. Curator Larry Billings has given some pamphlets to the society. Ruby Emery gave some paper items. Many members have given items for the flea market. The next meeting will be Saturday, Aug. 13, at Ruth Cox's for a picnic. Saturday, Aug. 6, is History Day at the museum. Evelyn Bean is in charge of the food table. She would like members to bring food for the table. There will be demonstrations in the museum and a flea market outside. Dr. Richard Durnin has given a "Bryant Pond Railroad" sign to the society. Several issues, 1917 to 1924, of the "Companion" paper have been given to me by Norman Chew, a summer resident of Norway, for presentation to the society. Contained in the papers are articles written by Charles A. Hoyt, whom Mr. Chew thought might be a relative.

Judith Grover Tent 17 will meet for a regular meeting at the Grange Hall on Monday, Aug. 8, with a tasting party.

Curator Larry Billings has given some music to the Historical Society. There have been many visitors to the museum this summer.

Steve, Beth and Marybeth Hoover, Corning, N.Y., have been visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hoyt, and other relatives in town. Other guests of the Hoyts have been their grandsons Ray and Shawn Crockett of Bethel, who visited over the weekend; Joseph and Maggie Hoyt, who visited Wednesday and Thursday with their dad, James Hoyt. All joined at McDonald's on Thursday for a birthday lunch for Joseph and all the cousins, Lauretta and Kelly Sanborn were also visitors.

Helvi Cary, accompanied by her son and daughter-in-law, Ron and Michelle Cary, traveled to Bar Harbor recently where they sailed on the Blue Nose ferry to Yarmouth, Nova Scotia and back.

Bob Millett and Arthur Farrar from South Paris have been painting Walter Heino's house this past week.

There was a good crowd at the lobster-steak cookout at the Rescue Unit here on July 23. There was also a good crowd at the beano game here on Tuesday evening at the Rescue Barn.

Albert Nelson and sons have been working for Stephen King at his place at North Lovell.

A little baby fawn deer was seen Monday evening in the middle of the road by the dam at Lake Keewaydin. He didn't know which way to go to find his mother. I hope he did find her.

Albert and Carole Nelson and Eric went to Massachusetts last week to check out Mount Ida College in Newton where Eric will be attending in the fall.

Cheryl Nelson-Barnard's husband, Lt. Col. Paul Barnard will be arriving here from Turkey on Tuesday evening.

August 6 is the chicken barbecue, put on by the Kezar Lake Grange at North Lovell. This is always good.

Nancy Rogers and friend from Connecticut called on Frances Grant and Eleanor Nelson last Thursday.

The Fox Bros. have been working for Pat Boisvere this past week.

Lawrence and Mildred Dadmun from Damariscotta were in town on business and called on their old neighbors and friends while here.

This morning, the sugar maples sighed comfortably. I heard them early morning talking to the breeze; perhaps telling why my driveway is covered with maple leaves. The hail came yesterday and cut them off.

I went to mail a letter, so took the longer way back. I often do that. I then look for plants, weeds, or flow-ers. The one that I noticed most today was the pink jewel-weed, a lady's earring. It is very pretty and larger than the orange plant of the same name, and grows along the roadside. The pink one spreads very rapidly from year to year.

A few threads of streams from yesterday's downpour were hurrying to the pond, where the water was like glass at that time.

The warmth of the many days had struck through to the earth (and to us) and was strong at the time.

A song sparrow didn't mind, for I heard him near the mailbox as I ap-proached my door. He was placing his incomparable seal on my outgo-ing letter.

I took a last look at my range of mountains, some of which are:

Julie White celebrated a birthday on July 20 at daughter Sandy's. Those present were Dick and Norma Plantier of Maryland, Julann Slack of New Jersey, Norman and the Delano family.

Niece Janice Roy, Waterboro, visited Aunt Gertrude Hutchins on Sunday.

Marjorie McGuire took Florence for a nice ride on Sunday.

Word has been received that Lettie Howard Akers died in Massachu-sets. She was Florence Hall's first-grade teacher.

Norman White went to the doctor in Togus.

Thought of the day: Americans will pay a big price for any inven-tion that will help them to save time they won't know what to do with.

Patch, Hedge-Hog, Peabody, Edgcomb, Round, Tom. Then I en-tered the house, thinking how the Psalmist felt, when he sang "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills from whence cometh my help."

By evening there was a change to something brighter. The pond water caught the glow of a sunset and turned from pewter gray to opales-cent. The opalescence was fire dappled with specks of lettuce-green that caught some lively light and al-most glistened.

Dick DiArenzo and family are visiting his mother, Zilpha DiArenzo.

On Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. John Betts, Ann Holt and Bradley Payne attended the christening of the AEGIS Guided Missile Destroyer Carney, named after Admiral Robert B. Carney, at the Bath Naval Shipyard. John was among the honored guests, having served under Admiral Carney aboard the U.S.S. Denver during World War II. They attended a reception following the christening, as guests of Mrs. Joseph K. Taussig Jr., daughter of Admiral Carney.

Mrs. Fran Piccirillo and two chil-dren visited relatives in Rhode Is-land a few days last week.

David, Sally and Mary were at the farm on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Cogswell, Freeport, visited Rena Curtis on Sunday.

What hot weather we've been hav-ing! This has been a busy week in North Woodstock, mostly due to several summer birthday parties. On Sunday, July 24, Bridget Billings celebrated her 11th birthday at her grandparents' camp on Concord Pond. The party was also in honor of Bridget's cousin, Carly Cum-mings, who turned six years old. Both Sterling and Irene Mills were present and other guests included Dan and Betsey Cummings, Mac and Tammy Billings, and myself. All of the kids in the family showed up, including Andrew and Peter Mills and Carly's brother Ross.

Gilead

By LOUISE LORING

Lazy, Hazy, August Days -- the air is heavy, stale and warm, the ponds and lakes lie motionless with reflected images shimmering in shades of gray -- and the blue magic of summer evenings reveals the Au-gust moon -- which didn't "full" this month until the 21st. The August moon is called the Full Sweet Green Corn Moon, and take note that the corn will be at its peak by this time. The raspberries hang heavy upon the briars, their full ruby red globes dot-ting the green of its foliage. Blueberries create patches of vivid color by the roadside as that harvest of the season nears its capacity. Happy Birthday to all the August "Leos," little lion cub kittens that love to frolic, romp and play -- I should know I have as Leo kittens a daughter, granddaughter, grandson and great-granddaughter, who light up our lives. Enjoy August -- it's named for Augustus Caesar, a regal fellow indeed, aptly named. Its sights, sounds and people are regal also. Keep the Faith and Peace.

On Sunday, July 24, Fernand and Beverly Corriveau, along with Freeman and Bethany joined a gathering of 40 people on a deep sea fishing trip off Portland, on a boat called the "Indian II." Other local members of the party included Fernand Jr. and family of Albany, Ronald and Belissa Morin of Andover, Fred and Gina Corriveau of town, Frankie Corriveau and friend Melissa Hutchinson, Fernand Morin and Lloyd Jr. and David and Bobby Morin and two friends. Un-fortunately, the seas were rough, and some members of the crew were sea sick. Lucky catches included cod and pollack, and one member of the party hooked onto a 20-pound shark, called a baby blue. Quite an experi-ence for all!

Ted Taylor and his two sons David and Michael and friends were deep sea fishing off from Bailey's Island on the 23rd, in Ted's own boat, where they caught plenty of mackerel.

There was a car that rolled over at the end of the North Road in the early morning hours of the 24th, dis-rupting electrical service in this area from 2 to 7 a.m.

Dane Barnes reported that some-one ran over a coyote at the State Line recently. Who knows what next will step out in one's path near these forested woods?

Millie McLain has been feeding an orphaned family of baby skunks, and recently mother coon appeared with her babies to partake of the goodies. Millie states, "I didn't plan to feed the entire North Country."

The Gilead Fire Department and town officials were given a grand tour of the Freedom Square Apart-ments on Route 2 last Tuesday eve-ning in regard to safety features and zoning laws. It has been reported the apartments are very nice, and a grand opening is expected for the general public in the near future.

Happy Birthday to Sadie Cole, who turned 10 on July 23.

And so it goes in Gilead -- and how was your week?

My "good neighbors" are giving me some goodies from their gar-dens...the Telleys, the Clarks, the Bachelders, the Wights...mmmm good! Thank you all -- I am lucky. God bless you.

Louise Tetley and yours truly were in Rumford Community House Health Center one day last week, visiting with Amy and Roger Hans-son and found them well and cheer-ful.

Roger's 79th birthday is August 14. His address is Rumford Com-munity Home, P.O. Box 430, Rum-ford, Maine, 04276-0430. He'd love to hear from you.

Six members of the "Newry Bowl-ing Gang" were at the Oxford Lanes, Rumford last week: Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seeley, Louise Tetley, Doris Parent and Olive Anderson. Rena Powers and Jim Anderson were guests. On the overall scores Betsy was the winner again with the highs on both triples and singles. Of the "righties" Doris was high on the triples but Olive was high on the singles.

Sylvia Harrington hosted a Hydroculture Plant Systems demonstration by Connie Adams of Canton. About 10 plant lovers were taught how to grow beautiful flow-ers and plants trouble-free without dirty, using clay pebbles instead. After about one hour of fun in guessing what the plants were and how to take care of them, refresh-ments were shared by everyone.

Briefly-On Health Care: circula-tion, exercise, assimilation, eat right, relaxation, meditation, meditate, elimination, clean the system. "Health is a priceless heritage, a nat-ural heritage. Every individual has the right to health."

Free clothing is available for any-one on Aug. 14 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Multipurpose Building next to the Forestdale Church School in South Woodstock. They said there are a lot of shorts avail-able and anyone is welcome to any of the clothes they have on hand.

Sarah and Jessie Hart spent Tues-day night with me. They hadn't stayed here for a while and I enjoy hearing all their news. Brandy Poland came and visited with them here on Wednesday. Brandy went home with them to spend Wednes-day night and Thursday at their home.

Ellsworth Hathaway has been working many hours at Will's Mill. Harry Hutchinson has been working with him a lot of the time.

Leslie Thurlow, Tim Poland and others made doortyad calls with Richard Wing this past week.

Diana Poland has been home on leave for a few days. She is in the Air Force and is going to be sta-tioned in New Mexico. She has been visiting friends and relatives before reporting back to duty.

Friday night, Kellie, Sarah and Jessie Hart, Brad, Jennie and Linsey Record brought cake and ice cream to share in honor of my birthday. A number of nice gifts were received. Saturday night, I enjoyed the rasp-berry shortcake brought by Rick and Karon Wing. They gave me a very nice wicker rocker. I probably gained pounds which I do not need, but enjoyed it anyway.

Larry Billings, curator, Woodstock Historical Society, reports that Evelyn Bean is looking for donations for a food table on History Day. Don't forget History Day on Aug. 6, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., at the museum. The society notes that Wyatt Blassingame claims, "By the time Reagan left office, he was one of the most popular Presidents in many years." Do you find studying presidents interesting? The society discovers interesting things about our pasts. It tries to be helpful.

Sunday afternoon, we will be enjoying a neighborhood get-together at Bob and Margie Gleason's field. More on this next week.

Quote of the Week: "I've learned that nothing bad really happens when you fear those little 'do not remove' tags from pillows."

Vance and Connie Bacon spent the past weekend at Winslow Memorial Park in Freeport.

Forward Fellowship met with Cynthia Lamb on North Pond Monday evening with 10 members present. Some had a swim before the potluck supper. Plans were made for the food sale which will take place at Littlefield's Beach on Aug. 3. The next meeting will be on Round Pond with Beryl Bonney on Aug. 22 at 6:30 for a "bag" lunch. Potluck will be the entertainment. Monday night after the business meeting a silent auction was held, which netted the treasury a little money.

The E.B. Forbes-Goodwill Group will meet with Avis Stethorn on Aug. 9 for a potluck dinner. Martha Day will be the assistant hostess.

The West Paris Public Library trustees met with Ruth Pray conducting the meeting. The new lighting fixtures have been installed and the stairs leading to the downstairs area will be done soon. The trustees are very appreciative of the gift left to the library by the late Albert Jackson. His generosity made it possible to have these improvements completed. Our final plans for the book and bake sale were discussed, this to be held on Aug. 13 from 9 a.m. to noon. Anyone having books they no longer want may donate them. Crafters are welcome to join in the sale.

Violette Bernier attended funeral services for her aunt, Emerlene Nickerson of Hallowell. Auntie was 96 years of age. We extend sympathy to Vi and the family.

Dick Morton has cut trees for Real Cameron on the lot alongside his camp. Real said they were young trees when he bought the property in 1969 and he mowed the field. Eddie Bennett pulled the stumps and graded the land. The view now opened up from Back Street is reminiscent of when "Grampa's turnip field" was clearly visible to passersby.

Howdy, folks. It is Monday afternoon, and since I'm what you might call sorta fragile and can't stand it to work out in the sun when it is so humid, I'll work on my news. It has been what I'd call a busy week for us.

This year, there seems to be some kind of bug after nearly every vegetable or flower, and I fed some of them some poison last Monday to help slow their progress.

Monday evening, we attended a two-point Grange meeting at Franklin Grange in Bryant Pond. Franklin Grange furnished the supper for all and Oxford Grange filled the offices and furnished the program. It was a very successful meeting, with 54 present to enjoy it.

Tuesday, July 19, was another busy day for us. Peggy had to make two large chicken casseroles to take to the American Legion Hall in Locke Mills to help feed the people at the Musical Supper. We went up quite early in the afternoon to do what we could to help. People came from all over and helped to make this supper a big success. We certainly weren't expecting so many people to show up, but show up they did, and we want to thank each and everyone for what they did to make it so successful. Peggy and I, also sister Laura, worked on making up the strawberry shortcakes. We couldn't make them as fast as people were ready for them, and we thank people for being patient while waiting. We had a large job of cleaning up afterwards, but it was sure worth it.

Wednesday, we went to Auburn to visit Viva at the Odd Fellows Home, and I am glad to say that she seemed some better than last week. She was in bed, as she is now much of the time, but we thought that perhaps she recognized us, and we have wondered if she did know us at times. Life can yield some hard blows.

After visiting Viva, we had errands to do at Wholesale Depot. While there I made a purchase of a Brother typewriter that I am typing this news with. My old one was a different make and has given me problems for a long time, and I decided that the time had come for a change. Hopefully, it will like typing the news.

Thursday was very hot and humid right from the start. I didn't work out in it as it was too hot for me, but Peggy's daughter Myrna and husband Whitey came up from Auburn, and Whitey mowed the lawns for us even though it was so hot. They stayed for lunch before returning home. It sure is nice to have them come up from Auburn to mow the lawn. Peggy plans to have a good lunch prepared for them.

Thursday evening, we attended Lecturer's and Past Lecturer's Night at West Paris Grange. This was a real nice meeting. Peggy and I filled in as assistant stewards and other offices were filled by visitors. There were 18 lecturers and past lecturers present. The lecturer, Bertha Benoit, had planned a very nice program. The tasting party in the dining room followed the meeting.

Saturday was Degree Day at Oxford Grange, when they were to be working all four subordinate Grange degrees, and Peggy and I were among those volunteering time to make it possible. Gail Butterfield of South Paris went with us. When we got there, doughnuts, muffins and coffee were free for all. Some of the candidates that were planned on didn't show up to take their degrees.

Wayne Sherman, his wife Linda and daughter Hillary came from Wales Grange, and Wayne was degree master for the first and second degrees in the forenoon.

Some Grangers helped work all four degrees. Peggy was lady assistant steward in the forenoon and assistant steward in the afternoon for the third and fourth degrees. Steven Verrill, State Grange gatekeeper, was assistant steward in the forenoon. I served as degree master for the third and fourth degrees in the afternoon. All went well and those candidates that did come are now fourth degree members and can attend the subordinate Grange of their choice. Oxford Grange furnished us a very nice lunch at noontime.

Peggy attended the dance at Locke Mills in the evening.

Yesterday, Peggy attended her class reunion, which was held at Wendell Twitchell's home in Bryant Pond. They graduated from Woodstock High School in 1938. There were seven 1938 class members and three spouses at their reunion and they all brought food to share picnic style. They had a real good time.

Sister Laura invited me to go with her to Martha Flint's camp in Sweden. I accepted the invitation and had a real good time. I took some swimming trunks along and went swimming for the first time in many years. We took a picnic lunch with us and enjoyed that before doing any swimming. We called at the home of Greg and Frances Adams, Laura's son and wife, before returning home.

West Paris Grange got first place in their display at Waterford Fair.

There will be dances at West Paris Grange Hall on Aug. 6 and again on Aug. 13, with music by the Richard Fell Orchestra.

The Lovejoy family were at their camp on North Pond Sunday and had guests as follows: Helena Bartlett from the Bethel House, Eleanor Emmons from the Harrison Road, and Eleanor's daughter Christine and friend Michael from Revere, Mass.

Once again, Franklin Grange 124 wishes to thank each and everyone that helped in any way to make the Musical Supper at the Locke Mills American Legion Hall such a success. We wish to thank all of those donating their talents to help the show and dance, all who helped furnish food, and most of all the nice people that came to enjoy what we had to offer. Thank you.

VETS SOUGHT ELIGIBLE FOR PURPLE HEART PLATE

The Bangor Chapter of the Military Order of the Purple Heart is attempting to compile statistics to determine the number of veterans who will be eligible for the proposed Purple Heart License Plate which is expected to be approved for issue in the near future. Currently there are no figures kept showing numbers of veterans who have received wounds in combat living in the State of Maine.

According to chapter commander Paul Tardiff, all veterans who have been awarded the Purple Heart Medal should forward their name, address and preferably a copy of their DD Form 214 (Separation Document) or other documentary proof of the award to: Military Order of the Purple Heart, ATTN: Neal Williams, Purple Heart License Plate Committee, P.O. Box 2394, Bangor, ME 04402-2394.

Williams, junior vice commander and chairman of the Purple Heart License Plate Committee, stated that compiling the names of Purple Heart recipients will be of paramount importance when the bill for the plates is brought before the State Legislature in January 1995.

NOTES FROM

Adult Education

The fall term of Adult Education classes in the Telstar region will begin in mid-September. Adult Education Director Cathy Newell is planning a full program of academic and enrichment courses and programs. The schedule will include courses running from six to 10 weeks as well as some mini-courses and single-session workshops. Suggestions for courses are always welcome at the Adult Education office, 824-2780.

The Adult Learning Center in Bethel will be the site of the Oxford County Women Unlimited program for the fall. This will be the third time that this dynamic program has been offered in the area. The program is designed to prepare women for careers in non-traditional occupations. Course work includes intensive academic work in writing and math, career interest identification, and skill area training in Class B truck driving and building construction. Those completing the course will have all the necessary preparation for the Class B license. The building construction component will be done in cooperation with Community Concepts and will involve work on homes in the area. Women who are interested in applying for the program should contact the Adult Education office immediately, 824-2780.

The fall course guides for the University of Maine courses offered at Telstar through the Interactive Television system are available in the Adult Education office. ITV courses start Sept. 6.

The Adult Education office and ITV classroom at Telstar are in the process of moving to larger quarters. According to Director Cathy Newell the phones have not been moved. Those calling the office should leave a message on the answering machine.

KEEP US IN MIND

It's that time of year when your local Rotary Club must start gathering items for our annual auction. The proceeds of all of our efforts go to support such projects as the Senior Citizen Christmas Dinner, Christmas Food Baskets for the needy, student scholarships, support of the local health facilities, summer camp tuition, area athletes expenses, disabled individual needs, etc.

If you're cleaning the garage, attic or cellar, let us get rid of those unwanted items for you. Call Roger Conant, 824-2131 or 824-2269 for pickup.

Help us with your support of our projects. It's a good feeling!

NEW EAGLE SCOUT—At his court of honor Sunday, James William Bonney of Bethel was inducted as an Eagle Scout. For his Eagle Scout service project, Bonney mapped Woodstock's cemeteries. He is a member of Bethel Boy Scout Troop #565 and the son of Larry and Elsie Bonney. (Photo by Wendy Hanscom)

Task Force notes:

By NATALIE TIMBERLAKE

Retirement Community, NTL relations, and recreational needs were the major topics of discussion when the Bethel Area Task Force met July 24.

The Retirement Community Committee meets monthly at the Bethel Area Health Center on the first Monday. Gwyneth Bohr reported on current issues: extent of potential resident interest; non-profit or profit organization status; and possible sites. Emphasis was made that the committee is not calling for commitments to become tenants of the proposed project, but to learn more about the scope of interest from current residents of the area, and to hear from others who may have interest in relocating older relatives or friends to this area.

Kathi Schandelmeier, NTL manager, reported that NTL has been going well this summer, and made announcements of community interest. Aug. 5, at 10:30 a.m. there will be a Memorial Service and brunch remembering Len Hirsch, first Kenneth Benne Scholar; and other NTL members.

Eva Schindler-Raiman, a veteran NTL member, and scheduled to be dean for the August sessions was reported to be in a coma, very seriously ill. She had recently moved to Nevada from California, and was stricken suddenly. Racine Brown, Sherm Kingsbury and Amanda Foulker will be filling in as deans.

Sunrise Seminars are on a full Wednesday through Saturday this week at the Bethel Inn Conference Center, beginning at 8 p.m. -- a later time than in previous years. The schedule may vary more this summer in later weeks because of the availability of leaders.

Although the minimum of $250 must be paid by any local participants, there are several on a stand-by list for these reduced payment spots, and two will be placed this session.

This year's potluck Task Force/NTL membership supper is scheduled for Aug. 3.

At the previous Task Force meeting, the lack of public recreational facilities accessible to NTL members as well as local people was discussed. The topic was reopened at this meeting. One point brought up concerned how this shortage might be increased with the Cross Street project, and what precautions are possible under Site Plan review ordinances. Another point made was that to start working on any project of this sort, the Task Force should know more about the responsibilities, vision, and limitations of the recreation committee. Some of the noted needs have been swimming, biking, roller-blading, and tennis. Some of the area towns do have one or more of these provisions available to the public.

The next meeting will be at the NTL Conference Center (Resource Center entrance) at 7 p.m., Sunday, Aug. 21.

Jackson-Silver Post #68

The Jackson-Silver American Legion Post 68 of Locke Mills has announced the winners in a recent essay contest on the American Flag, which the Post sponsored at Telstar Regional High School. Tied for first place and receiving checks for $200 were Aimee Kaulback of Andover and Elise Bennett of Bryant Pond. Third place winner and the recipient of $100 was Justin Hutchins of Andover. Honorable mention and winners of $25 were Amy Howe of Albany and Becky Chandler of South Woodstock.

SLEEP

I am usually a heavy sleeper. I've slept very poorly lately and turning before falling asleep, and then waking up in the night. I'm wondering if it's because of the hot weather. Can hot weather cause insomnia?
Yes, hot weather certainly can cause insomnia, and if your disturbance does result from heat, you are not alone. People have difficulty falling and staying asleep during summer months.
"Sleep is closely linked to cooling down of our core temperature. Hot, humid weather disrupts this system, leading to quality sleep," says Sarah Auerbach, MD, director of the Disorders Center at Boston City Medical Center. "The body to keep cool, drink cold fluids if an air conditioner is unavailable or a dehumidifier." As a result of poor sleep, often feel irritable, less able to perform their activities and less able to deal with stress. Weather report times include a reference to "good" sleeping night or "poor" sleeping night. Typically, sleeping night is one in which room temperature is about 65 degrees.
The following are a number of tips that may enable you to sleep in the heat:
--Exercise early in the day to elevate your body temperature to allow you to relax more at night.
--Take a cool shower before going to bed.
--Sleep in a room with a fan or air conditioner to help regulate body temperature.
--Drink plenty of fluids during the day to prevent dehydration. Allow the body to cool itself. However, avoid drinking fluids right before bedtime, as this might aggravate your bladder sleep.

Matters of Health

From Boston University Medical Center

SLEEPING IN THE HEAT: A sometimes difficult challenge

I am usually a heavy sleeper, but I've slept very poorly lately, tossing and turning before falling asleep, and then waking up during the night. I'm wondering whether it's because of the hot and humid weather. Can hot weather cause insomnia?

Yes, hot weather certainly can cause insomnia, and if your sleep disturbance does result from the heat, you are not alone. Many people have difficulty falling asleep and staying asleep during the summer months.

"Sleep is closely linked to the cooling down of our core body temperature. Hot, humid weather disrupts this system, leading to poor quality sleep," says Sanford H. Auerbach, MD, director of the Sleep Disorders Center at Boston University Medical Center. "The solution is to keep cool, drink cold fluids and, if an air conditioner is unavailable, use a fan or dehumidifier."

As a result of poor sleep, people often feel irritable, less efficient in their activities and less able to cope with stress. Weather reports sometimes include a reference to a "good" sleeping night or a "bad" sleeping night. Typically, a good sleeping night is one in which the room temperature is about 65 to 70 degrees.

The following are a number of tips that may enable you to sleep better in the heat:

--Exercise early in the day to avoid elevating your body temperature and to allow you to relax more easily at night.

--Take a cool shower before bed and sleep in a room with a fan or air conditioner to help regulate your body temperature.

--Drink plenty of fluids during the day to prevent dehydration and to allow the body to cool itself at night. However, avoid drinking lots of fluids right before bedtime, since it might aggravate your bladder during sleep.

--Find something that helps you relax and doze off comfortably, perhaps reading or watching television -- whatever works for you.

There is a scientific reason why people sleep better in cooler weather than in hot weather: hot weather disrupts an important phase of a person's sleep cycle known as rapid eye movement (REM) sleep. This disturbance occurs because the mechanisms that regulate the body's temperature do not regulate as well during REM sleep.

REM sleep is vital to a person's ability to concentrate and pay attention while awake. This sleep period, which occurs every 90 minutes in normal sleepers, is the critical stage at which dreaming occurs. During a typical night's sleep, people alternate between non-REM sleep and REM sleep.

Short-term cases of insomnia can also result from everyday stress, anxiety, tension and anticipation, and once a person is conscious of not being able to sleep, the problem often becomes exacerbated.

To treat mild insomnia on their own, individuals can incorporate some of the following steps into their nightly routine before going to sleep. They can read a good but unexciting book, listen to soothing music, take a warm (not hot) bath, breathe deeply and rhythmically, relax their muscles, and go to bed when they are ready to fall asleep. Insomniacs who are not sleepy should get out of bed instead of tossing and turning.

Mild insomniacs should avoid certain activities before going to bed, as well, including drinking caffeine and alcohol (although alcohol may help you to fall asleep, it can disrupt the quality of sleep); exercising (although exercise can be relaxing, it may make falling asleep difficult), and eating heavy meals.

While many cases of insomnia do result from relatively benign factors, persistent insomnia can be caused by a host of more serious problems, including medical and psychiatric illnesses and the side effects of some medications. If your symptoms persist for an extended period, you should see a physician.

This "Matters of Health" was prepared in cooperation with Sanford H. Auerbach, MD, director of the Sleep Disorders Center at Boston University Medical Center. Readers with questions about sleep disorders or those who wish to discuss other health issues may contact BUMC Health Connection at 617-638-6767.

AWARD FOR COURAGE--Ginny Peck of North Reading, Mass. accepts the Patty Noll Award for Courage from organizer John DiVivo, following Sunday's Maine State Triathlon Classic. Peck was one of 105 competitors in the event, which included a one-kilometer swim, 25-kilometer bike ride and five-kilometer run. The men's overall winner was Joel Titcomb of Gorham, the women's Rosalind Randall of Portland. The winning men's team was made up of Dave Gatchell, Kim Cough and Scott Brown of South Paris; the women's team of Barbara Strickland, Patty Medina and Cindy Dipalma of Portland. The co-ed team winners were Nancy Babcock, Scott Jerome and David Walker of Bethel. The triathlon was hosted by the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce. (Photo by Michael Durnell)

Prof. Daniell to give Sudbury Canada lecture

Jere Daniell, professor of history at Dartmouth College, will give the Hall Memorial Lecture as the first event in the 15th annual Sudbury Canada Days on Friday evening, Aug. 12, in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Professor Daniell's topic will be "Town Founding in Maine: The Special Case of Sudbury Canada."

A native of Millinocket, Daniell is a graduate of George W. Stearns High School (1950), Phillips Exeter Academy (1951), and Dartmouth College (1955), where he graduated Phi Beta Kappa and participated in the NROTC Program. After service in the U.S. Navy (1955-58), he entered Harvard University and received his Ph.D. there in 1964. He joined the Department of History at Dartmouth in 1964.

A specialist in early American history and the history of New England, he is the author of two books, "Experiment in Republicanism: New Hampshire Politics and the American Revolution" (Harvard University Press, 1970) and "Colonial New Hampshire: A History" (KTO Press, 1981), plus numerous articles and reviews.

The Hall Memorial Lecture was established in 1992 through a bequest to the Bethel Historical Society from the estate of Ralph and Marion Hall. Income from this fund each year brings a major scholar in New England history to Bethel during Sudbury Canada Days, summer heritage festival of the Bethel Historical Society. The lecture is free and open to all interested persons.

TRAPPING SEASONS SET

Maine's Fish and Wildlife Advisory Council has established the open season dates for trapping and hunting furbearing animals in 1994-95.

The statewide open season on trapping is as follows: 1994, Oct. 30-Dec. 31; 1995, Oct. 29-Dec. 31.

Species open to trapping include: bobcat, coyote, fisher, fox, marten, mink, muskrat, opossum, otter, raccoon, red squirrel, skunk and weasel. (In addition to the regular muskrat season, muskrats may be trapped during the beaver trapping season only in areas that are open to beaver trapping.)

The harvest of marten is limited to 25 martens per trapper statewide. Each trapper will be issued 25 numbered temporary transportation permits upon purchase of the annual trapping license.

The furbearer open hunting seasons:

- Bobcat, Dec. 1-Jan. 31
- Coyote, Jan. 1-Dec. 31
- Fox, Oct. 24-Feb. 28
- Opossum, Oct. 24-Dec. 31
- Raccoon, Oct. 1-Dec. 31
- Red Squirrel, Jan. 1-Dec. 31
- Skunk, Oct. 24-Dec. 31

A special trapping season for fox and coyote statewide will be open from Oct. 23 through Oct. 29, 1994, and Oct. 22 through Oct. 28, 1995. Trappers must meet special provisions during these fox and coyote special trapping seasons.

Adopt a wild horse in Vermont

On Aug. 27 and 28 approximately 125 healthy and trainable wild horses recently rounded up from Western rangelands will be offered for adoption at the Vermont State Fairgrounds, Royce Mandigo Arena, in Rutland, VT. The adoption is sponsored by the Department of Interior, Bureau of Land Management.

To qualify to adopt up to four animals, applicants must have, for each animal, a sturdy corral at least six feet high, shelter, transportation, and the ability to care for the animals. The adoption fee of $125 per horse is payable in cash or money order at the time of the adoption. The fee helps defray the federal government's cost of roundup, veterinary care, transportation and administrative expenses.

After an animal has been adopted, BLM contract personnel will halter and load the animal for the adopter.

The horses will arrive at the Royce Mandigo Arena on Friday, Aug. 26, with viewing hours from 1 to 5 p.m. The scheduled hours for the adoption will be from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, and if any horses are still available, they can be adopted on Sunday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

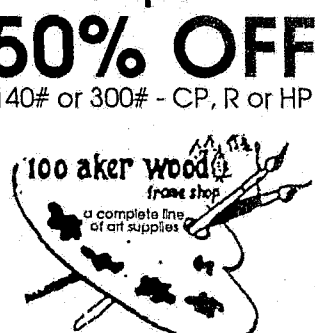

For applications and more information about this event contact: Bureau of Land Management, P.O. Box 631, Milwaukee, WI 53201-0631, or call 414-297-4443. Applications to adopt should be received by the above office before Aug. 19.

SAFER FAMILIES CELEBRATES THIRD ANNIVERSARY—Program director Lynn Mason (left) and volunteer Diane York of Rumford hold up the new Safer Families T-shirts designed by Arla Patch of Woodstock. The program celebrated its third anniversary Friday with a get together at the Moses Mason House meeting room. Oxford County Sheriff Lloyd Herrick and Richard Pickett of the Maine State Police were lauded for their support of the program. (Photo by Wendy Hanscom)

Golf tip of the week --

Side Hill Lies: When the ball is below your feet widen your stance, aim just left of the target and stay down and through on the swing. When the ball is above your feet, narrow your stance, choke down on your grip about one inch, aim just right of the target and maintain balance.

The golf tip of the week is provided by the staff of the Bethel Inn and Country Club.

"Between The Lines"

Dear Friends,
Katie is on vacation and she asked us to write a wonderful ad. Well, we don't have time, so here it is — short and sweet!
We, the staff, are tired of straightening the sale book tables! (The computer says that there are almost a thousand sale books here now, and Katie just keeps on ordering them!)
So, here's the deal:
10% OFF THE ALREADY LOW PRICES ON ANY SALE BOOK.
The sale is now thru the end of July.
(Just don't tell Katie, she'll probably want to order more!)

EVA SCHINDLER-RAINMAN

By THE REV. GWYNETH BOHR

Dr. Eva Schindler-Rainman, 69, died in California on Wednesday, July 27, 1994. Eva was scheduled to be Bethel NTL overall dean in August. She loved Bethel and had come here for many summers.

Eva Schindler-Rainman made a variety of contributions to the life and development of Bethel. In the 1970's she and Ron Lippitt ran a community conference in Bethel, one of the 82 communities in six states where they led conferences, which led to their book, "Building the Collaborative Community." In 1987 Eva led a large Bethel community conference and followed with interest resulting groups such as the Affordable Housing Committee and the Mahoosic Arts Association. She started the annual NTL local artists exhibit. It was Eva who led a workshop for volunteers which led to the state volunteer conferences. Last year she facilitated a future search conference for Gould Academy and a customer relations workshop for Bethel area businesses.

Eva Schindler-Rainman was a skillful innovator and a courageous and feisty woman. She was the author of many books and articles and the leader of many workshops and labs to encourage volunteers, voluntary organizations, and communities. She is survived by a son, Peter Schindler; and a brother, Gunther Schiff.

Her many friends celebrate her life and mourn her loss. She will be remembered, along with other NTL members who died recently, at a memorial service to be held at the NTL Conference Center at 10:30 a.m. on Friday, Aug. 6.

Contributions may be made in her memory to the University of Southern California either to the School of Social Work or the School of Music.

Card of Thanks

The Family of Bill Robertson would like to express its thanks for the cards, calls and food in our recent bereavement with special thanks to the Reverends Jean and Brendon Bass for their warm and comforting words.
